ONE MAN ENDURANCE FLIGHT FAILS NEAR RECORD IN CRACK-UP

Plane Crashes In Lake
But Flyer Escapes
Hurts

MILLS FIELD, San Francisco, Aug. 21.—Don Templeman's one-man refueling endurance flight came to an end late last night, less than an hour before he would have established a record, when his plane crashed into a lake.

Templeman was not hurt but was taken to a hospital to rest. He had been in the air slightly less than thirty-six hours.

Templeman, whose escape from injury was regarded as miraculous, has accomplished a new feat in aviation annals by successfully refueling his plane six times while he piloted.

As the "mother" plane hovered over him, Templeman grasped the fuel hose with one hand, directing his ship with the other. He was aided somewhat by a funnel over the gas tank but he was required to keep his plane steady forty feet below the "mother" plane.

Before the plane crashed into the lake, it hit a power line with a blinding flash.

A heavy fog lay over the field and it was believed Templeman became so sleepy that when he was gliding down to the field to drop a note, he hit the line.

Templeman's flight started at 10:10 a. m. PST, Monday. He had hoped to stay in the air at least forty hours.

EXPECT MANY FOR LEGION MEETING

AKRON, O., Aug. 21.—The state convention of the American Legion here Aug. 24-27 is expected to set a new record for attendance, according to the committee on arrangements.

It is estimated that more than 15,000 Legionnaires will be here to participate in the "Big Parade" on Monday. The figures are based on reservation requests which indicate that practically every post in smaller Ohio towns will visit the city. A further indication is seen in notice that forty bands and drum corps will enter the competition for prizes.

David S. Ingalls, assistant secretary of the navy in charge of aeronautics, will be here, as will be Gov. Myers Y. Cooper. In addition prominent officials of the G. A. R. and the United Spanish American War Veterans are expected.

Registration will begin Saturday night with the first business session scheduled for Monday in the Armory, which seats 6,000 persons. On Sunday the visitors will be guests of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, with a few of them having the privilege of taking a ride in Goodyear blimps.

Convening with the legionnaires will be the Women's Auxiliary, the 40 and 5. Frolic branch of the Ex-Service Organization, and the 8 and 40, a similar branch for women.

HONOR "RED" FABER BUT HE LOSES GAME

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Urban "Red" Faber, 41-year-old pitcher for the Chicago White Sox who holds the all-time major league record with 227 games won and 166 lost, had tangible evidence today of the affection he has won from fans by his sixteen years of playing with the American League team.

Twenty thousand of them gathered at the Sox park yesterday for a "Faber Day" and "Red" took home a purse of $2,760, a large radio and a diamond ring.

Faber lost the game to another old timer, Tom Zachary of the New York Yankees, by a 5 to 4 score but it was a day of looking backward and the crowd didn't seem to notice.

GRAF PLANNING NEW FLIGHT TO STATES

BERLIN, Aug. 21.—Another Graf Zeppelin flight to the United States is planned for October, according to a Friedrichshafen dispatch to the Telegraph-Union today.

The dispatch added that the giant dirigible, now making a trip around the world, was expected to return to Friedrichshafen on Sept. 10.

TAXIS ARE SO UNSAFE
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 21.—A baby boy was born to Mrs. Martha Walker, 28, Knoxville, in a taxi cab today.

MYSTERY BUSINESS HEAD GIVES UP

Refusing to divulge the nature of the business he heads, which reportedly pays dividends of 26 per cent annually, Elmer S. Huckins, of Hancock, Wis., has surrendered to federal authorities, charged with using the mails to defraud. Huckins' business is purported to have drawn an estimated $3,000,000 in investments, without solicitation, from hundreds of persons in the middle west. Huckins is shown, right, leaving the federal building at Milwaukee with his attorney, Walter J. Bargrover, of Cedar Rapids, Ia., after he was arraigned and placed under $25,000 bond.

SPOKANE SUN GOD COMPLETES NON-STOP FLIGHT OVER NATION

FELTS FIELD, SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 21.—Nick Mamer and Art Walker landed the Spokane Sun God at 5:59:40 o'clock last night (Pacific time), the first flyers to complete a round trip, refueling flight across the continent. Thousands of persons were on hand to greet the craft.

One of the most dangerous laps of the flight was the homeward leg from Missoula yesterday afternoon, as visibility was poor because of smoke and forest fires that have ravaged the Pacific northwest for weeks.

The ship was refueled at Missoula, 100 gallons of gasoline being taken aboard, and at 12:30 o'clock was pointed westward.

Objects of the flight "had been fully realized," the National Air Derby association, which sponsored it, said, and continuation, would be in effect "an anti-climax."

The Sun God started from here with elaborate ceremonies at 5:58 o'clock Pacific time last Thursday. It flew to San Francisco where two refuelings were made. Thence it turned eastward, flying over Cheyenne, North Platte, Neb., and the middle west to New York.

Circling over New York City last Sunday the flyers dropped a message expressing disappointment at being unable to visit friends, and turned westward.

Cleveland, St. Paul, South Dakota and northern Montana points were passed over on the return trip.

The Spokane Sun God's record flight of 2,200 lineal miles without a stop broke the record of heavier than air machines of 4,563 miles made by the Italian aviators, Ferrarin and De Prete on a flight from Rome to Natal, Brazil. It also exceeds the non-stop mileage of the Graf Zeppelin from Friedrichshafen to Tokyo which was about 6,850 miles.

Mamer was at the controls when the plane touched the ground. He taxied down the field for several hundred feet and Walker jumped from the cabin into the arms of a pressing crowd. Nick taxied the ship to a reviewing stand erected on the field before he alighted. Both men appeared to be in excellent physical condition, but were unable to hear ordinary conversation.

A telegram from President Herbert Hoover was read through a microphone. It followed: "Nick Mamer and Art Walker: Congratulations on the successful completion of your non-stop refueling flight across the continent and return. This was a further demonstration of the ever widening scope and practical utility of aircraft." (Signed) "Herbert Hoover."

To succeed Prof. F. R. Bear, resigned, Prof. Robert M. Salter was named chairman of the soils department while Prof. Robert B. Stoltz was named chairman of the newly created department of dairy technology.

In the absence of Prof. A. B. Wolfe during the winter quarter, Assistant Professor E. L. Bowers was designated acting chairman of the economics department. Similarly, George B. Crane, secretary and assistant director of the agricultural extension department, was named acting director in the absence of Director H. C. Ramsower, who will study next year at Harvard.

NEED SURVEYORS TO FIX PLACE OF DEATH

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Aug. 21.—Bert Wells, a Madisonville, W. Va., miner, was killed in Pennsylvania but it took a surveying gang and considerable work along the Mason and Dixon line to establish that fact.

Authorities of Monongahela County, West Virginia, and Greene County, Pennsylvania, had difficulty establishing in whose jurisdiction the slaying had occurred.

A survey line was cast along the Mason and Dixon line and it was established that the slaying took place ten feet inside Pennsylvania. One man is held in the Pennsylvania jail today.

DRAW BATTLE LINES FOR TARIFF FIGHT; CAMPAIGN PLANNED

Thomas Resolution May Be Sidetracked By Foes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Opposition generals of the senate are silently assembling here to plan the coming legislative battle against the Republican $600,000,000 tariff bill. None of the various group commanders would indicate what plan of campaign they will enter upon but several methods are being discussed.

The resolution of Senator Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, seeking to eliminate all save the agricultural schedules of the bill may be sidetracked because it would lead to parliamentary difficulties. Instead of it, a resolution may be offered later seeking to recommit the whole bill to the senate finance committee with instructions that the committee make the necessary changes.

A second plan, being discussed, would call upon the Democrats to prepare a tariff bill of their own, including in it only the agricultural and related rates. This minority bill could be reported out as a minority report from the committee in protest against the majority bill and as a report it would have an excellent parliamentary status, more satisfactory than a motion to recommit.

The Democratic leaders have indicated no strong sentiment for this method, because it carries the responsibility of championing a complete substitute for the Republican bill. They are taking the position that the Republicans were elected last November on a tariff platform which they have the right to enact and that the Democratic responsibility goes no further than the necessity of seeing that the "public interests are protected."

A third suggested plan is to drop all these moves for big joint maneuvers and fight the issues out on individual rates.

A decision may be expected within the next few days as the last of the Democratic tariff generals, Senator Simmons of North Carolina, is expected on the scene tomorrow.

Meanwhile Republican members of the finance committee are continuing work on the administrative features of the bill which they expected to have ready for submission to the full committee before the end of next week.

HURRICANE IS NEARING CITY OF SANTIAGO

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 21.—A terrific hurricane which has been expected to strike this island for the last several days was reported by the national observatory today to be approaching the city of Santiago de Cuba.

The observatory announced it would not be able to report until later today as to which direction the hurricane would take, thus increasing the alarm and anxiety here since the hard rains and extremely low thermometer began to presage the hurricane five days ago.

CLUBMAN FALLS TO DEATH FROM HOTEL

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—Colonel Walter T. Bradley, coal magnate and clubman, plunged to his death today when he jumped or fell from his thirteenth story apartment in the fashionable Warwick hotel.

Police recorded the cause as a suicide. They said a screen on a window had been carefully removed.

Colonel Bradley had been in ill health for some time and recently his sight had been failing him.

A newspaper, opened to the stock market page, was found on a table in the room.

USUALLY THE OPPOSITE
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21.—Ronald H. Mercereau has been given a divorce from Saralee Mercereau because his wife refuses to talk to him. When they were alone, or even if they had company, she would not direct a word his way. Mercereau is a bond broker.

SECOND FIRE DAMAGES LINER; PARIS LAID UP SEVERAL MONTHS

HAVRE, France, Aug. 21.—Several months will be required to repair the damages to the French liner Paris from two fires, within 24 hours of each other, which ravaged the deluxe sections of the trans-Atlantic ship during the height of the homeward-bound American tourist season, it was revealed here today.

The second fire broke out last night and required several hours to subdue. The salons and other parts of the ship were reduced to such a mass of charred ruins that the experts who hastened to the liner after the first fire were forced to abandon the hope of reconditioning the vessel for immediate service.

Meanwhile a police inquiry has been instructed to determine the cause of the fire. It was suggested by some that the conflagration may have been the work of incendiaries.

Narrow Quarters on "Zep"

Artist Biederman's conception of the narrow passages on the Graf Zeppelin. Stout passengers have to go single file through this corridor. Still its more roomy than the "cat walk" in the gas bag overhead. Biederman is the only artist allowed to sketch aboard the Graf.

GRAF SCHEDULED TO LAUNCH PACIFIC FLIGHT ON WEDNESDAY

TOKIO, Aug. 21.—With 100 Japanese naval mechanics working to refuel her, the globe-circling Graf Zeppelin is already ready for its trans-Pacific flight to Los Angeles, the last great test of her flight around the world to Lakehurst.

The dirigible's departure remains fixed at 2 o'clock this afternoon provided the weather permits. Indications from the Japanese weather bureau were that favorable conditions for the Pacific flight would reign for several days.

While the majority of the officers and crew retired early last night after a day of strenuous entertainment, out at Kasumigaura air field the work of refueling the Graf and replenishing her stores proceeded steadily.

If the Graf averages as fast a passage over the Pacific as over Europe and Asia, or approximately 1,700 miles daily, she should reach American territory by Saturday and sail over Los Angeles early Sunday.

It was officially indicated that Dr. Eckener intended to follow the

GOATHAM LOSES IN EXPOSITION WAR

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—New York has conceded defeat in the contest with Chicago over the staging of expositions.

A twenty-one-month war has been ended by the announcement here that plans for the George Washington Memorial Exposition, scheduled for 1932, have been changed to provide for the celebration in 1935. Thus the Chicago exposition, known as "The Chicago Century of Progress," will be held in 1933 without competition.

The Chicago exposition will celebrate the 100th anniversary of the incorporation of the village of Fort Dearborn as the City of Chicago. New York's fair was planned to commemorate the 200th anniversary of George Washington's birth.

YOUNGSTER FREED OF SHOOTING FATHER

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Aug. 21.—The straightforward story that he killed his father to save his mother from a beating, won freedom for 12-year-old Richard Howard.

A coroner's jury pronounced his act justifiable homicide and the district attorney's office dropped the case.

The clean-cut, blonde youngster killed his father, Frank S. Howard, wealthy automobile man, Saturday, with a rifle.

IOWA BANS HAZING
IOWA CITY, Ia., Aug. 21.—Hazing at the University of Iowa has officially become a tradition of the past. Instead of fearing the terrors of their first week at school freshmen can now anticipate a friendly greeting from a committee of upperclassmen with Emerson W. Nelson, Cherokee, the former Hawkeye all-western football player, as chairman.

DARING YOUTHS ARE LONG OVERDUE; MAY HAVE EXHAUSTED GAS

Youngsters Not Seen
Since Azores; Had
Land Plane

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Two young Swiss flyers are overdue in their attempt to conquer the westward crossing of the North Atlantic, and alarm for their safety is being felt.

With the unbounded confidence of youth and blithely disregarding the fact that they knew next to nothing of navigation and none too much of flying, Oscar Kaeser, and Kurt Luescher took off from Lisbon Monday and headed their white monoplane for the far coast across the waves.

A German steamer saw them 175 miles at sea and they flew over the Azores at 1 o'clock, eastern standard time in the afternoon. Up to that time they had maintained a speed of ninety miles an hour and the gasoline consumption had apparently been light enough to give the 21 and 22 year old flyers the belief that they could make the American coast.

It had been their plan that if their fuel was decreasing too rapidly when they reached the Azores they would turn back. But at the last view they were following the sun westward to their goal.

After that no ship at sea sighted them during the day and the night. And last night passed without any report of their whereabouts or their fate.

Judging from their speed as far as the Azores, the Swiss should have reached New York at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Roosevelt field officials burned beacons all night, but it was generally felt their fuel could not have lasted and that the audacious boys must be down somewhere along their course.

The plane was a French biad plane with no equipment for landing on the water and the only safeguard in the case of a forced landing on the sea was a rubber suit with which each aviator had supplied himself.

NEW FAST PLANE IS PLACED IN SERVICE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—A new military airplane, which may be the fastest in the world, was expected at Anacortia Naval Air Station here today from the naval aircraft factory at Philadelphia.

The plane, a development of the present "Sea Hawk" pursuit plane now used by the navy, has been constructed with a much smaller radiator located on the side of the fuselage.

The radiator will contain a new cooling solution, Crestona, which the navy wishes to test. The smaller radiator greatly decreases wind resistance, and new stream lining also will add to the speed.

The present Sea Hawk type has made around 200 miles an hour, and the new plane is expected to exceed this mark.

If the tests of the new Sea Hawk here this week are successful, some navy flyer probably will take it to Cleveland for the air races.

COOPER TO SPEAK

Governor Myers Y. Cooper was a guest at the Clinton County fair Wednesday, speaking briefly from the grand stand at 1 o'clock. Wednesday was designated as "governor's day" at the exposition.

The fair opened Tuesday and will close Friday.

Jailed here recently on charges of drunkenness, an unnamed man woke up in his cell cot to find his 17-jewel watch gone from his wrist.

He demanded police protection from Chief of Police W. R. McDowell while in the latter's jail.

Detectives searched the jail inmates and found it on the wrist of another prisoner.

PROPOSED CHARTER AMENDMENT LOSES IN CLEVELAND VOTE

Manager Form Of Government Again Victorious

CLEVELAND, Aug. 21.—With the three-D charter amendment defeated by the narrow margin of four and a half votes per precinct, political interest shifted today to the election of a city council in November.

The progressive government committee, through its chairman, Clarence J. Neal, today repeated its pledge to place a complete council slate in the field.

"The committee will now go forward," Neal declared, "and carry out the second plank of its platform in presenting to the people a complete slate of competent men and women for the council who will be in sympathy with the manager plan of government."

This announcement was believed to forecast another bitter political battle.

Just as in the Davis amendment campaigns of November, 1927, and April, 1928, the amendment yesterday carried seventeen of the city's thirty-three wards but heavy voting in the northeast section of the city again was the determining factor.

Bearing out early forecasts, 97, 155 Cleveland men and women went to the polls. The amendment received 46,987 votes. The vote "against" was 50,174. The margin came to that of the 1928 election, was only 3195 votes or 443 votes for each of the city's 722 precincts.

City Manager Hopkins issued a formal statement expressing gratitude at the outcome of the election and predicting a bright future for Cleveland.

Progressive government committee headquarters was a gloomy place when first returns were announced by the board of elections.

The three-D amendment was out in front in frequent vote tabulations shortly after the booths closed.

Its lead was slowly cut down as more precincts were computed. On the basis of early returns the amendment was slated to carry by more than 6,000 votes.

PARIS, Aug. 21.—Dieudonne Coste, famous French trans-Atlantic aviator, arrived at Le Bourget airfield today, tested the new wireless apparatus of his plane and placed the plane in the hangar. Everything was apparently in order and ready for another early attempt to span the Atlantic by air from east to west.

Coste, who with Joseph Lebriz, has a south Atlantic crossing to his credit, turned back a few weeks ago when 400 miles east of the Azores on a flight from Paris to New York, when he found that head winds were causing him to use gasoline so rapidly that his supply would be exhausted before reaching the American continent.

WEIDLER MADE DEAN
OF O. S. U. COLLEGE

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 21.—Professor Walter C. Weidler, chairman of the department of business organization at Ohio State University, has been named dean of the university's college of commerce and administration.

Prof. Weidler, a member of the faculty for thirteen years, has been acting dean of the college since September, 1927. He succeeds C. O. Ruggles, who resigned to join the faculty at Harvard. The appointment is effective immediately.

MYSTERY BUSINESS HEAD GIVES UP

Refusing to divulge the nature of the business he heads, which reportedly pays dividends of 26 per cent annually, Elmer S. Hunkins, of Hancock, Wis., has surrendered to federal authorities, charged with using the mails to defraud. Hunkins' business is purported to have drawn an estimated $3,000,000 in investments, without solicitation, from hundreds of persons in the middle west. Hunkins is shown, right, leaving the federal building at Milwaukee with his attorney, Walter J. Barngrover, of Cedar Rapids, Ia., after he was arraigned and placed under $25,000 bond.

Cleveland, St. Paul, South Dakota and northern Montana points taken aboard, and at 12:30 o'clock was pointed westward.

The Spokane Sun God's record flight of 7,200 lineal miles without a stop broke the record of heavier than air machines of 4,663 miles made by the Italian aviators, Ferrarini and De Prete on a flight from Rome to Natal, Brazil. It also exceeds the non-stop mileage of the Graf Zeppelin from Friedrichshafen to Tokyo which was about 6,880 miles.

Mamer was at the controls when the plane touched the ground. He taxied down the field for several hundred feet and Walker jumped from the cabin into the arms of a pressing crowd. ## CLARK COUNTY HAS FARM EXPOSITION

About 3,000 persons attended the first Clark County Agricultural Exposition at the fairgrounds Tuesday. The exposition will continue for three days, and the attendance Wednesday and Thursday was expected to be very large.

Wednesday is being observed as "Springfield Day." The main feature of the afternoon will be athletic events to be held in front of the grandstand. There will be a balloon ascension and baseball game between Clark County and Springfield merchants. The livestock shows are attracting much attention.

DRAW BATTLE LINES FOR TARIFF FIGHT; CAMPAIGN PLANNED

Thomas Resolution May Be Sidetracked By Foes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Opposition generals of the senate are silently assembling here to plan the coming legislative battle against the Republican $500,000,000 tariff bill. None of the various group commanders would indicate what plan of campaign they will enter upon but several methods are being discussed.

DARING YOUTHS ARE LONG OVERDUE; MAY HAVE EXHAUSTED GAS

Youngsters Not Seen Since Azores; Had Land Plane

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Two young Swiss flyers are overdue in their attempt to conquer the westward crossing of the North Atlantic, and alarm for their safety is being felt.

With the unbounded confidence of youth and blithely disregarding the fact that they knew next to nothing of navigation and none too much of flying, Oscar Kaeser, and Kurt Luescher took off from Lisbon Monday and headed their white monoplane for the far coast across the waves.

A German steamer saw them 175 miles at sea and they flew over the Azores at 1 o'clock, eastern standard time in the afternoon. Up to that time they had maintained a speed of ninety miles an hour and the gasoline consumption had apparently been light enough to give the 21 and 22 year old flyers the belief that they could make the American coast.

It had been their plan that if their fuel was decreasing too rapidly when they reached the Azores they would turn back. But at the last view they were following the sun westward to their goal.

After that no ship at sea sighted them during the day and the night. And last night passed without any report of their whereabouts or their fate.

Judging from their speed as far as the Azores, the Swiss should have reached New York at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Roosevelt field officials barred beacons all night, but it was generally felt their fuel could not have lasted and that the audacious boys must be down somewhere along their course.

The plane was a French land plane with no equipment for landing on the water and the only safeguard in the case of a forced landing on the sea was a rubber suit with which each aviator had supplied himself.

NEW FAST PLANE IS PLACED IN SERVICE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—A new military airplane, which may be the fastest in the world, was expected at Anacostia Naval Air Station here today from the naval aircraft factory at Philadelphia.

The plane, a development of the present "Sea Hawk" pursuit plane now used by the navy, has been constructed with a much smaller radiator located on the side of the fuselage.

The radiator will contain a new cooling solution, Crestona, which the navy wishes to test. The smaller radiator greatly decreases wind resistance, and new stream lining also will add to the speed.

The present Sea Hawk type has made around 200 miles an hour, and the new plane is expected to exceed this mark.

If the tests of the new Sea Hawk here this week are successful, some navy flyer probably will take it to Cleveland for the air races.

TRUE ROMANCE CLUB HAS SIXTY MEMBERS

SANDUSKY, O., Aug. 21.—Men and women of this section who have been married more than forty years and are still living together have formed a True Romance Club with close to sixty members.

A circus press agent brought the couples together originally, with a view of advertising his show. The matter was taken seriously by the "longweds," who effected a permanent organization, with reunions every three days and fifteen hours. To do so the Zeppelin must pass over the Statue of Liberty by approximately 4 o'clock August 31.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob H. Bauer of Sandusky, 87 and 83 respectively, are the oldest members enrolled. They have been married sixty-four years.

SUMMER TROUBLES WITH POULTRY

One of the trials that a poultryman may experience during the summer months is to have some of his fine pullets "go bad." His first question is "Why?" and the next, "What can be done about it?"

In many cases there is no satisfactory answer for either question. However the cause can sometimes be accounted for and corrected. D. C. Kennard, head of the poultry investigations at the Ohio Experiment Station, points out while reviewing many cases that have recently been brought to the attention of the Station.

Kennard finds four principal sources of trouble. One is overcrowding of the pullets so that they suffer from heat and lack of ventilation during warm nights. This may be followed by bronchitis or digestive disorders.

A second cause of trouble is that the pullets may have access to decayed material, such as dead chickens or animal or vegetable matter, on the range which may cause a sort of ptomaine poisoning. Epsom salts may give prompt relief. But the cause should be removed.

A third cause may be an acute outbreak of coccidiosis. This may follow some change in feeding or management. After a rain the pullets may eat many angle worms and slugs. These are carriers of this disease and also of internal parasites.

A fourth range that has become common of green feed and is contaminated with disease organisms and parasites, is often responsible for serious trouble. Each outbreak of trouble among the pullets is usually an individual problem and its solution requires a careful study of the possible causes and their prompt removal.

The body will be brought to Xenia Wednesday afternoon and funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Woodland Cemetery chapel.

MRS. THOMPSON TO SHOW GARDEN FILMS AT FLOWER SHOW

Mrs. Carrie Thompson, Lima, chairman of wild flower conservation for the Federated Women's Clubs of Ohio, has assured the Xenia Garden Club that she will attend the combination flower show and community celebration in Shawnee Park here Labor Day.

Mrs. Thompson will speak at the affair and will also show pictures of Old World gardens as a feature of the evening program in the park pavilion. She has 11,000 feet of films, gathered over a period of six months, in Europe and other parts of the world.

Mrs. McDonald, chairman of reforestation for Ohio for the Federated Women's Clubs and also a prominent member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will also be a speaker on the program. Mrs. McDonald is noted as a platform lecturer.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Garden Club and the flower show committee was held Tuesday night, at which further plans for the celebration were considered. B. H. Slagle, chairman of the flower show committee, has donated a silver loving cup, that will be first premium in the flower show, but the entire premium list is not available. This list will be published within a few days and will be published then, according to Mrs. Charles A. Keible, garden club president.

Work remodeling the five double cottages for boys, and three of the single cottages for girls has been commenced at the O. S. and S. O. Home, Superintendent Charles V. Burton said Wednesday.

The double cottages which were built about twenty-five years ago will be equipped with shower baths and lockers, to be located in space at the rear of each which will be inclosed.

The three girls' cottages which were not included in the remodeling program of seventeen other cottages two years ago, will be modernized with new stairways, plumbing, wiring and electrical fixtures along the lines followed in bringing the other old cottages up-to-date.

The work is being done by forced account and the estimated cost will be $50,000. Funds for the work were included in the general appropriation for the Home by the legislature this year.

SUMMER TROUBLES

WITH POULTRY One of the trials that a poultryman may experience during the summer months is to have some of his fine pullets "go bad." His first question is "Why?" and the next, "What can be done about it?"

In many cases there is no satisfactory answer for either question. However, the cause can sometimes be accounted for and corrected. D. C. Kennard, head of the poultry investigations at the Ohio Experiment Station, points out while reviewing many cases that have recently been brought to the attention of the station.

Kennard finds four principal sources of trouble. One is overcrowding of the pullets so that they suffer from heat and lack of ventilation during warm nights. This may be followed by bronchitis or digestive disorders.

A second cause of trouble is that the pullets may have access to decayed material, such as dead chickens or animal or vegetable matter, on the range which may cause a sort of ptomaine poisoning. Epsom salts may give prompt relief. But the cause should be removed.

A third cause may be an acute outbreak of coccidiosis. This may follow some change in feeding or management. After a rain the pullets may eat many angle worms and slugs. These are carriers of this disease and also of internal parasites.

A wornout range that has become barren of green feed and is contaminated with disease organisms and parasites, is often responsible for serious trouble. Each outbreak of trouble among the pullets is usually an individual problem and its solution requires a careful study of the possible causes and their prompt removal.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE EVIDENCE OF WISDOM—Whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock: And the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock.—Matthew 7:24, 25.

FIGHTING CHANCELLOR

Chancellor Snowden's querulous critics overlook the justice of his claim and the provocation under which he addressed The Hague conference. They call him "irascible" and "unfit to be a negotiator." As a matter of fact he has shown himself to be about the fittest negotiator Great Britain has sent across the channel to deal with war debts. When one's debtors show no disposition to make an honorable effort to meet their obligations, a little irascibility is pardonable. At least Snowden has made the world sit up and take notice that, as A. G. Gardiner puts it, "there will be no further surrenders to the rapacity of Great Britain's late allies."

Americans ought to be able to appreciate the situation in which Snowden and his government find themselves. Great Britain was the first of our principal war debtors to come forward and fund its debt. That was in 1923. The Italian debt was not funded until two years later; and it was not until 1926 that France could be induced to sign the agreement that has been ratified by the French parliament only within the past month. Great Britain agreed to pay us $4,600,000,000 and has been meeting her installments regularly, although they have borne heavily on her people. We were forced to let France off at about 50 cents on the dollar and did even less well with Italy. When those facts are remembered, as well as the fact that Great Britain is asking of her debtors only that they pay her with what she borrowed from us largely on their account, we think that Great Britain's spokesman at The Hague was justified in putting his foot down hard against a distribution of German reparations that gave preference to nations that have shown neither the promptness nor the honesty that she has in meeting their obligations.

CALENDAR REFORM

To gauge business sentiment concerning calendar reform the Chamber of Commerce of the United States will submit by referendum to more than 1,600 organizations constituting its membership the question whether it is desirable from a business viewpoint.

This will be only a first step in determining whether the Chamber shall enter the lists as an advocate of the proposal, concerning which there is a divergence of opinion on the part of American business men.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—It was one of those days when the cat would have made your eyebrows crawl and the man from the typewriter shop had journeyed to the Gilbert & Sullivan studios to repair the maroon-hued type-writer of the lady on the third floor who indites pink poems for pale people. As the repair man hammered and brushed and oiled and wiped the machine the lady was busy in the one-octave kitchenette back of the living room. And pretty soon, when the typewriter job was done and the witted mechanic was ready to depart, the Lady of the Dump handed him a tall glass containing just enough of that and not too much of that, all beautifully mixed, merged and iced.

"This is none of Mr. Volstead's business," she said, "and Mr. Jones must never hear of it."

You mean Five-and-Ten Jones? grinned the repair man.

He quaffed the beverage and an ecstatic smile wreathed his homely phiz.

"Lady," he said, putting down the half-emptied glass and wiping his rosebud lips, "I don't know when I've enjoyed a hot spell as much as I am this one, right this minute!"

WELL, WHAT DO YOU KNOW? It was an advertisement in the morning paper, so plain and child-like, so unvarnished and simple and alluring.

"Luncheon baskets for the Gypsy-hearted. In England, luncheon out of a basket is an institution ancient and honorable. Truly there's nothing like it. Away down the river, a hundred miles or more, you stop to delve deep into the delights of a skillfully-packed luncheon basket, or sassy-like, halt your caravan on a cloth of shadow lace beneath some branching wayside inn. The English make it all so simple."

And the price? One hundred and fifty dollars and no cents. A hundred and fifty bucks for a picnic luncheon? Maybe so. But do you remember the old shoebox lunch that Max used to pack with the cold fried chicken, the hard-boiled eggs, the great big slices of home-made bread, the

NO BORDERS

When genius, personality, ability are great enough there are no national borders, no man-made limits. The city of Paris has just placed a tablet to the memory of the German poet Heinrich Heine on the house wherein he died in the French capital. Both German and French lovers of his poetry put flowers on Heine's grave. War mars the harmony and beauty of the world. It retards the progress of mankind. But war cannot obliterate from the minds and hearts of thinking men and women an appreciation for all that is best.

UP AND UP AT 92

Mrs. Julia Lefevre, Massachusetts woman, at 92 insists on riding in an open airplane. Having enjoyed her first ride she plans longer journeys. It is women who carry courage and the sense of adventure into old age, and men likewise, who account for the better part of civilization.

BALANCE

The trouble with many of us is that our thinking is out of balance. Thinking too intently and persistently about one thing leads to what is called an obsession. And a man or a woman with an obsession is for all practical purposes insane, though there may be no organic cause of insanity.

Thousands of folks who have not reached the point of obsession still think out of balance. They think too much about one thing or a few things. They fail to see matters in right relationship to each other. Out of balance, they become bores, nuisances. They are avoided by their acquaintances and tolerated by their friends.

SOLITUDE

A Frenchman has completed a six-year voyage around the world in a 25-foot boat. He went alone. He was after solitude, and in sailing the trackless seas alone he went where it could be found. If he used his mind right this man should have learned much on that solitary voyage. He cut out the war and tear of life and gave himself a chance to think.

What do you suppose a man thinks about on a six-year journey around the world, alone on a 25-foot boat? What would YOU think about?

BUSINESS METHODS OF SMALL RETAILERS DISCUSSED

By DR. JULIUS KLEIN

Assistant Secretary of Commerce
Dr. Julius Klein was born in San Jose, Cal., June 27, 1886, and was graduated from the University of California in 1907. He has made investigations in the archives of Latin-America and Europe in history and economics. Dr. Klein became chief of the U. S. department of commerce in 1917 and in 1921 was made director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. He was recently appointed assistant secretary of commerce.

The majority of independent American retailers, possessing a reasonable margin of capital, with native ability, willingness to work and take advantage of new methods, have as great an opportunity for success today as ever in the past.

Now it is true that many an unsuccessful retailer attributes his woes mostly to the cruel competition. But one feels sometimes, that the harried retailer is sometimes a bit too modest in thus contriving to avert attention from himself. Possibly the deeply rooted trouble lies much nearer home than he is willing to admit. It was the old Greeks who coined that most concise of adages: "Know thyself!" And a course in introspection—in auto-psychanalysis—could often I believe, work healing miracles in the modern retail trade.

Because the plain, blunt truth appears to be that the influence of competition in occasioning retail disasters is enormously exaggerated. It is not nearly so mischievous a power as the failures would have us think.

As contrasted with the units in larger organizations the independent retailer enjoys greater freedom of action. He is not restricted by unwieldy systems.

He is at liberty to adjust his methods and his stock to the peculiar tastes and moods of his clientele. He has that intangible but invaluable quality that we may call the personal touch.

To proceed efficiently, the independent retailer needs above all else dependable facts as to his particular trade problem. There is certainly no lack of statistical and factual services, and of eager proposals and offers of a self-appointed, self-anointed variety, ready to furnish the inquiring retailer with facts or near-facts. Some of these are fairly good and genuine and others suspiciously synthetic. The retailer's main difficulty then seems to be to choose those that are really trustworthy and useful to him. In this important task he would do well to consult the facilities of the department of commerce, particularly its tabulation of the functions of some 600 business researching agencies.

These are scattered throughout the land and cover every conceivable type of trade.

If he is to survive, the retailer must marshal every possible item of experience and information bearing upon his particular situation. And that situation is one of profound concern to the entire nation. As President Hoover expressed it, when he was secretary of commerce, "the foundation of American business is the independent business man. We must maintain his opportunity and his individual service."

TWO HEADS ARE BETTER THAN ONE!

How To Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

Many women still feel that, in order to be beautiful, they must spend a good deal of time and money in a beauty salon. This is not so—and while the importance of scientific professional treatments cannot be exaggerated—still, no woman should hesitate to give herself a home beauty treatment. It must, however, be an intelligent and scientific treatment, and in order to give herself such a treatment, she must know three things. I might almost call these three things the key to beauty—for with this knowledge any woman can unlock the beauty that is latent within her!

First—know your skin! Is it too dry? Does it scale and chap? Is it too oily? Does your nose grow shiny, no matter how frequently you powder? Or is yours, perhaps, a combination skin—too dry about the eyes, the forehead and cheeks—too oily around the chin and nose? Few indeed, are fortunate enough to have a perfectly normal skin, but if you do have one—guard it as you would a crown jewel!

Having determined your particular type of skin, you must select preparations made especially for that type. And this is your second bit of knowledge—know how to select the correct preparations for your particular type of skin. It goes without saying that all preparations you use on your face must be absolutely pure—they must be compounded of ingredients that are actively beneficial to the skin. And they must be selected for your individual skin condition, for no matter how pure a preparation might be, if it were made to correct excessive oiliness, it would be ineffectual for the dry skin, and vice versa. In fact, you could not use a cream or lotion made for dry skin on one which was inclined to oiliness without aggravating the condition.

And third, you must know how to correctly apply your preparations. Every time you put your hand to your face, you benefit or injure, build or tear down. Every single motion is constructive or destructive. Many women tear down faster than the preparations can build up—simply because they do not know how to apply their preparations correctly. Frequently these women become discouraged and give up the use of really splendid preparations because they cannot see results—never realizing that themselves, and not the preparations, are responsible! For no preparation can keep the muscles firm, the contour youthful, if you are constantly dragging down on those same muscles. There is a correct way to apply your creams and lotions—a way that is really constructive—that will work with the preparations and hasten the beneficial results!

So here is your key to beauty: Know your skin. Know how to select the right preparations for your particular type of skin. Know how to apply your preparations correctly.

Behind the Scenes In Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Conflicting interpretations are placed upon Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt's prohibition reminiscences.

One version is that Mrs. Willebrandt just the justice department in a rage and now is "telling her troubles," partly to relieve her mind partly to get even—to get even with her former political associates and maybe to get even with the present Washington administration, for denying her the advancement to which it is surmised she considered herself entitled.

The other version is that there are certain facts, in connection with the prohibition history, which the administration wants made public but cannot disclose officially, and that Mrs. Willebrandt is broadcasting them for the administration's full knowledge and approval.

Of course, a few insiders know which is the correct interpretation, but only a handful of them—Mrs. Willebrandt, herself, and perhaps two or three others.

On the assumption that Mrs. Willebrandt's object is to pave the way for the present administration's adoption of a new prohibition enforcement policy, it is easy to believe that she is trying to be helpful.

She assuredly has made a detailed exposure of the old system's evils.

If the changes desired by the administration of today are the very same changes which Mrs. Willebrandt implies are desirable all well and good—from this administration's standpoint.

However, Mrs. Willebrandt—who certainly is well qualified to discuss prohibition enforcement up to date—does give a pretty poor impression of the law methods employed thus far—but without saying a word adverse to the prohibition principle.

Her articles doget very nicely, in fact with Governor W. Wickham's recent prohibition letter, as chairman of President Hoover's law enforcement commission, to Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York.

This may be only a coincidence. Nevertheless it is pointed to, by politicians who contend that few such writings as Mrs. Willebrandt's are given to the world, or letters like Chairman Wickham's to Governor Roosevelt are dictated, that the present White House tenant is not familiar with long before they reach the public.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

MENU HINTS

Hot potato Salad
Assorted Sandwiches
Sliced Peaches Plain Cake or Cookies
Milk

This luncheon menu may be prepared early in the day, ready to serve. The potato salad can be cooked when you are using the oven and reheated. Serves six.

Today's Recipes

Hot Potato Salad—Peel potatoes and slice very thin, allowing one medium one to each person. Butter baking dish. Place layer each of potatoes, shredded cheese, sliced boiled eggs, blanched almonds and cracker crumbs. For more serving add other layers. Put several generous pieces of butter on and almost cover with milk. Salt and pepper. Bake until potatoes are well done and dish is browned. Serve on well chilled lettuce leaves.

Assorted Sandwiches—A loaf each of whole wheat and white sandwich bread. One filling: six hard-boiled eggs, one-fourth pound bacon, browned crisp; one-fourth pound peanut meats. Mince together and soften with mayonnaise or sandwich spread. Make sandwiches and cut into three strips.

Pimento cheese spread used on whole wheat bread will afford another selection. Cut sandwiches into squares.

Buttered thin crackers afford a variety of breads. Served with a prune nut and cream cheese filling, they are delicious.

Bread, butter and cold boiled ham is another choice. Cut these sandwiches in triangles.

The sandwiches, with the exception of the cracker ones, can be made in the morning, wrapped in waxed paper and placed in the refrigerator.

Economical Layer Cake—Two cups sugar, one-half cup butter (scant), two whole eggs or one egg and yolks of two or one egg and whites of two, one cup milk, flavoring, two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder. Stir butter and sugar to a cream, add beaten eggs and beat again, then add milk and flavoring. Mix baking powder with flour and add. If not stiff enough, add more flour. Any preferred filling may be used. This makes three layers and six small individual cakes.

"Is it? Tell me anything that goes more quickly."

Sermon in Stones

Shakespeare said there are sermons in stones and good in everything. It is obvious he had no reference to kidney and gall stones, though no doubt he knew of them, for as far back as we have records of medical history, it was known that stones could be formed in the human body. So they have probably always been an affliction of the human race.

The gall bladder, kidneys and bladder are the most frequent seats of stone formation, but the pancreas and the intestines and other organs sometimes harbor them.

What causes stones? Is there a hereditary tendency? And particularly type of physique more prone to their formation? I find no intimation in the medical literature of any hereditary influence, but it has been noted that the gall stone victims have been, or are, very frequently OVERWEIGHT. So this particular physique, if it can be called that, is under suspicion.

Now here's our sermon on stones, and it'll be on the prevention of them:

About ten years ago, Osborne and Mendel noticed that the rats used in their experimental work which had been fed on diets lacking in fat soluble vitamin A, were frequently found to have stones in various parts of the urinary tract. These experiments have been verified in the nutrition laboratories of Japan, by Fujikami. He noticed that rats fed on a vitamin A deficient diet for a long time would first develop bladder stones, then kidney stones, and bile stones last of all. It is believed that the general debility or lowered vitality caused by the deficient diet permitted an invasion of bacteria. These caused a decomposition of the urine or gall, with a deposit of the salts which formed the stones. And it was also found that as the stones would dissolve when the diet was corrected. Whether this would be true in man or not, we do not know, but we are sure that stones too large to pass through the ducts of the organs have to have operative removal. The common idea that olive oil will dissolve gallstones is not true. Little masses which look like stones will be passed after taking large amounts of any oil, but these are simply soap concretions made by the alkaline bile and the oil. You can determine this by melting them. (Stones do not melt.)

There is another dietary indiscretion which has long been thought to favor the formation of urinary stones, and that is a diet that gives strongly acid urine so that the solvent power of its salts is lessened, and the precipitate and form the stones. In view of the experiments showing the lack of vitamin A also as a cause of stones, it is worth noting that a non-acid forming diet (one containing a preponderance of potatoes and other vegetables (especially greens), and fruits and milk) is high in all the vitamins. The greens and milk are especially high in vitamin A.

Gallstones. For gallstone formation, it has generally been held that some infection is the primary cause, for quite frequently there have been found germs in the nuclei of the stones. With our newer knowledge of nutrition, we know that the integrity of the mucous membranes (and all the organs) is dependent upon a balanced diet; and that it is only when the resistance is lowered by a prolonged wrong diet that infection takes place. Thus the germs are the secondary factor rather than the primary.

Gallstone victims are overweight in the majority of cases, or they have been overweight. There are two factors causing this: 1st. The overeating which causes the overweight in turn causes the bile to be thickened and over-saturated with the bile salts; cholesterol—a fatty substance which is normal in certain amounts in the blood and bile and tissues—is often greatly increased in the overweight. This cholesterol can crystallize and does crystallize frequently, for most all gallstones are composed of pure cholesterol. 2d. There is stagnation for those who are overweight as a rule take very few of the exercises of the trunk muscles which bring into play the liver and gall bladder, and cause them to keep their contents moving.

So, our sermon in stones is that for health's sake, have a balanced diet and some vigorous exercises every day, especially of the trunk muscles.

We have an article on the "Tummy Trouble" on Balanced Diet and a new pamphlet on the kidneys which you may have by following column rules.

Living and Loving

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

Do the little mottoes, "Keep Smiling," and the like infuriate you as much as they do me, I wonder? They make me feel more like saying naughty words than of doing as they bid.

But smiling does help a lot, if you know what I mean. If you are looking at a baby in a carriage and the little thing smiles up at you don't you get the most delightful feeling? Don't you swell up a bit and feel that you're not such a bad fellow after all?

And every friendly, smiling eye you meet through your day, does help you a lot, doesn't it? All right, then, see if you can't cultivate that jolly, friendly attitude toward the world at large. You'll find plenty of friends and life will seem much rosier to you.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am invited to a card party and dance. I am going with a very nice boy. He is jealous of me. There will be a lot of boy friends of his at the party. Now they will play 'postoffice' and 'spin the bottle,' and the like. Will he think I give kisses cheaply when he sees me kissing other boys?"

"Even though it is at a party I am afraid he will think this and also will think less of me if he kisses me quite a few times. Do you think so? You know it is always thought good policy to keep the boy friend chafing or anxious. I do not let him kiss me as much as he wants to. Do you think that this party will ruin everything? Don't tell me not to go because it is impossible to back out."

"PATIENCE"

He will be kissing other girls, too, don't forget, if you are playing kissing games, so will have no reason to scold you. I don't believe he will mind if you are circumspect. At those parties most girls manage to kiss in such a manner that the boys hardly know they've kissed them at all.

J. K.: You are over 50 pounds too heavy for your height. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ten cents (coin) and I will send you the pamphlet you write of.

D. D.: I don't wonder George's company rather palls when he comes every night and you have to stay at home all the time. That would get tiresome with married people. They have to get out once in awhile. Can't you persuade your people to let you go out occasionally to a picture show or to visit your friends? You are old enough to be trusted, surely. If not, I'd try to make George see that every other night would be better. Tell him you have to see your girl friends once in awhile.

I'd give a pretty to know if the letter signed "One of Your Least But Found Friends" is a hoax. That signature sounds suspicious to me, and the letter itself is a bit too tragic to be real. Anyway the writer wants to warn other girls from sewing too many wild oats. The sewing's not so good, according to her.

DIMPLES AND BABY FACE: It's just as well for a girl of 16 to be careful of the company of a man of 24 unless she knows him and his family very well. He really is too old for such a young girl. Self-consciousness is overcome by forgetting yourself and thinking of others and of your surroundings. You will probably get over it naturally, as you grow older and have more experience.

QUEEN FORGIVES A CAPTOR AND ACCEPTS A NEW HOME

The man who had taken captive the bees might be a fine man, and all that—but he had stolen upon them unawares like a thief in the night. Why? The queen looked doubtful.

"No doubt this man keeps hens," said she and looked straight at Peter. "And hens, as even a boy must know, gobble up bees as fast as they can catch them."

"Oh no, Your Majesty! This man has sense!" Peter was sure of it. "He knows more about bees than you know yourself, and he takes great care that not a hen nor a load gets near the hive. His bees are worth money to him. Even if he were not fond of them he would protect them!"

Peter ceased talking a moment, then continued.

"But if you're in fear of this man and do not wish to belong to him all you have to do is to be quick and when he is ready to dump us all into the straw cone he carries (as he will do in a minute)—with his hat he is now holding us on the top of it—just you watch your chance and crawl over the edge and down the side and away and the man can't keep the rest of the bees no matter how hard he tries. I have heard him say, 'If I lose the Queen Bee when they swarm I might as well have lost the whole hiveful of them.'"

"Quite right, I am glad he knows that. It shows he has intelligence!" remarked the Queen with dignity. Then she turned to her subjects.

"My people, I have decided we can do no better than to accept the new home which this man, whom the boy trusts, is offering us."

"Whatever you say, Your Majesty!" buzzed her subjects.

"Fine!" said the boy, who thought he knew the Queen was doing the wisest thing for the welfare of her people.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE EVIDENCE OF WISDOM—Whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock: And the rain descended and the floods came and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock.—Matthew 7:24,25.

FIGHTING CHANCELLOR

Chancellor Snowden's querulous critics overlook the justice of his claim and the provocation under which he addressed The Hague conference. They call him "irascible" and "unfit to be a negotiator." As a matter of fact he has shown himself to be about the fittest negotiator Great Britain has sent across the channel to deal with war debts. When one's debtors show no disposition to make an honorable effort to meet their obligations, a little irascibility is pardonable. At least Snowden has made the world sit up and take notice that, as A. G. Gardiner puts it, "there will be no further surrenders to the rapacity of Great Britain's late allies."

Americans ought to be able to appreciate the situation in which Snowden and his government find themselves. Great Britain was the first of our principal war debtors to come forward and fund its debt. That was in 1923. The Italian debt was not funded until two years later; and it was not until 1926 that France could be induced to sign the agreement that has been ratified by the French parliament only within the past month. Great Britain agreed to pay us $4,600,000,000 and has been meeting her installments regularly, although they have borne heavily on her people. We were forced to let France off at about 50 cents on the dollar and did even less well with Italy. When those facts are remembered, as well as the fact that Great Britain is asking of her debtors only that they pay her with what she borrowed from us largely on their account, we think that Great Britain's spokesman at The Hague was justified in putting his foot down hard against a distribution of German reparations that gave preference to nations that have shown neither the promptness nor the honesty that she has in meeting their obligations.

To gauge business sentiment concerning calendar reform the Chamber of Commerce of the United States will submit by referendum to more than 1,600 organizations constituting its membership the question whether it is desirable from a business viewpoint.

This will be only a first step in determining whether the Chamber shall enter the lists as an advocate of the proposal, concerning which there is a divergence of opinion on the part of American business men.

MOE, A LITTLE LADY

Moe Levy, the feline pride of a shabby little sector of the Longacre strip, has crossed the Great Divide and the bottom has dropped out of things for the Duchess in her dusty little two-room apartment back of Bootlegger's Row.

The Duchess first sighted the near Angola kitten lying on its back in a parrot's cage in the show window of an Eighth Avenue pet shop, dominated by a hard-eyed Daughter of Destruction.

The Dook has won some dough in a poker game, from a labor leader the night before, and at the Duchess' request parted with 18 bucks, and Moe Levy entered upon nine months of the Life of G. Reilly.

Moe turned out to be a little girl cat, contrary to the assurances of the hard-eyed pet shop proprietor. And what a little lady she was! WHAT A lady!

A funny little kuffy, bright-eyed play-girl, sweet, gentle and happy as a sunflower.

She put up a game fight when the end came. She didn't want to die because life had done its best for her.

But early one sultry evening went out to call across the house phone for Doc Stark, the vet. And would he hurry, and be kind? He carried her away in a pasteboard hatbox, and being a white guy, phoned back in half an hour that when last sighted Moe was nestling sleepily in the stern of the new motorboat that Brother Charron is using this summer on the Styx.

And the Duchess and her ex-Following girl friend, holding lone-some vigil in the stuffy little Longacre flat, cried their make-up off.

You don't happen to know anybody who could use a paper catnip do you?

BUSINESS METHODS OF SMALL RETAILER DISCUSSED

By DR. JULIUS KLEIN

Assistant Secretary of Commerce Dr. Julius Klein was born in San Jose, Cal., June 27, 1886, and was graduated from the University of California in 1907. He has made investigations in the archives of Latin-America and Europe in history and economics. Dr. Klein became chief of the Latin-American division of the U. Some of these are fairly good and genuine and others suspiciously synthetic. The retailer's main difficulty then seems to be to choose those that are really trustworthy and useful to him. In this important task he would do well to consult the facilities of the department of commerce, particularly its tabulation of the functions of some 600 business researching agencies.

These are scattered throughout the land and cover every conceivable type of trade.

If he is to survive, the retailer must marshal every possible item of experience and information bearing upon his particular situation. And that situation is one of profound concern to the entire nation. As President Hoover expressed it, when he was secretary of commerce, "the foundation of American business is the independent business man."

We must maintain his opportunity and his individual service.

TWO HEADS ARE BETTER THAN ONE!

How To Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

Many women still feel that, in order to be beautiful, they must spend a good deal of time and money in a beauty salon. This is not so—and while the importance of scientific professional treatments cannot be exaggerated—still, no woman should hesitate to give herself a home beauty treatment. It must, however, be an intelligent and scientific treatment and in order to give herself such a treatment, she must know three things. I might almost call these three things the key to beauty—for with this knowledge any woman can unlock the beauty that is latent within her!

First—know your skin! Is it too dry? Does it scale and chap? Is it too oily? Does your nose grow shiny, no matter how frequently you powder? Or is yours, perhaps, a combination skin—too dry about the eyes, the forehead and cheeks—too oily around the chin and nose? Few indeed, are fortunate enough to have a perfectly normal skin, but if you do have one—guard it as you would a crown jewel!

Having determined your particular type of skin, you must select preparations made especially for that type. And this is your second bit of knowledge—know how to select the correct preparations for your particular type of skin. It goes without saying that all preparations you use on your face must be absolutely pure—they must be compounded of ingredients that are actively beneficial to the skin. And they must be selected for your individual skin condition, for no matter how pure a preparation might be, if it were made to correct excessive oiliness, it would be ineffectual for the dry skin, and vice versa. In fact, you could not use a cream or lotion made for dry skin on one which was inclined to oiliness without aggravating the condition.

And third, you must know how to correctly apply your preparations. Every time you put your hand to your face, you benefit or injure, build or tear down. Every single motion is constructive or destructive. Many women tear down faster than the preparations can build up—simply because they do not know how to apply their preparations correctly. Frequently these women become discouraged and give up the use of really splendid preparations because they cannot see results—never realizing that themselves, and not the preparations, are responsible! For no preparation can keep the muscles firm, the contour youthful, if you are constantly dragging down on those same muscles. There is a correct way to apply your creams and lotions—a way that is really constructive—that will work with the preparations and hasten the beneficial results!

So here is your key to beauty: Know your skin. Know how to select the right preparations for your particular type of skin. Know how to apply your preparations correctly.

Behind the Scenes In Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Conflicting interpretations are placed upon Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt's prohibition reminiscences.

One version is that Mrs. Willebrandt quit the justice department in a rage and now is "telling her troubles," partly to relieve her mind partly to get even—to get even with her former political associates and maybe to get even with the present Washington administration, for defying her the advancement to which it is surmised she considered herself entitled.

The other version is that there are certain facts, in connection with prohibition's history, which the administration wants made public but cannot disclose officially, and that Mrs. Willebrandt is broadcasting them for the administration's full knowledge and approval.

Of course, a few insiders know which is the correct interpretation, but only a handful of them—Mrs. Willebrandt, herself, and perhaps two or three others.

On the assumption that Mrs. Willebrandt's object is to pave the way for the present administration's adoption of a new prohibition enforcement policy, it is easy to believe that she is trying to be helpful.

She assuredly has made a detailed exposure of the old system's evils.

If the changes desired by the administration of today are the very same changes which Mrs. Willebrandt implies are desirable, all well and good—from this administration's standpoint.

However, Mrs. Willebrandt—who certainly is well qualified to discuss prohibition enforcement up to date—does give a pretty poor impression of the dry law methods employed thus far—but without saying a word adverse to the prohibition principle.

Her articles dovetail very nicely, in fact, with George W. Wickersham's recent prohibition letter, as chairman of President Hoover's law enforcement commission, to Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York.

Nevertheless it is pointed to, by politicians who contend that few such writings as Mrs. Willebrandt's are given to the world, or letters like Chairman Wickersham's to Governor Roosevelt are dictated, that the present White House tenant is not familiar with long before they reach the public.

MENU HINTS

Hot potato Salad
Assorted Sandwiches
Sliced Peaches Plain Cake or Cookies
Milk

This luncheon menu may be prepared early in the day, ready to serve. The potato salad can be cooked when you are using the oven and reheated. Serves six.

Today's Recipes

Hot Potato Salad—Peel potatoes and slice very thin, allowing one medium one to each person. Butter baking dish. Place layer each of potatoes, shredded cheese, sliced boiled eggs, blanched almonds and cracker crumbs. For more variety add other layers. Put several generous pieces of butter on and almost cover with milk. Salt and pepper. Bake until potatoes are well done and dish is browned. Serve on well chilled lettuce leaves.

Assorted Sandwiches—A loaf each of whole wheat and white sandwich bread. One filling: six hard-boiled eggs, one-fourth pound bacon, browned crisp; one-fourth pound pecan meats. Mince together and soften with mayonnaise or sandwich spread. Make sandwiches and cut into three strips.

Pimento cheese spread used on whole wheat bread will afford another selection. Cut sandwiches into squares.

Buttered thin crackers afford a variety of breads. Served with a prune, nut and cream cheese filling, they are delicious.

Bread, butter and cold boiled ham is another choice. Cut these sandwiches in triangles.

The sandwiches, with the exception of the cracker ones, can be made in the morning, wrapped in waxed paper and placed in the refrigerator.

Economical Layer Cake—Two cups sugar, one-half cup butter (scant), two whole eggs or one egg and yolks of two or one egg and whites of two, one cup milk, flavoring, two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder. Stir butter and sugar to a cream, add beaten eggs and beat again, then add milk and flavoring. Mix baking powder with flour and add. If not stiff enough, add more flour. Any preferred filling may be used. This makes three layers and six small individual cakes.

WELL WHAT DOES?

Two men were talking about horse racing and remarking upon the silly names given to many horses.

"If I kept a race horse I know what I should call him," said one.

"What?" asked the other.

"Change of a Dollar."

"But that's absurd, isn't it?"

"Is it? Tell me anything that goes more quickly."

Sermon in Stones

Shakespeare said there are sermons in stones and good in everything. It is obvious he had no reference to kidney and gall stones, though no doubt he knew of them, for as far back as we have records of medical history, it was known that stones could be formed in the human body. So they have probably always been an affliction of the human race.

The gall bladder, kidneys and bladder are the most frequent seats of stone formation, but the pancreas and the intestines and other organs sometimes harbor them.

What causes stones? Is there a hereditary tendency? And particular type of physique more prone to their formation? I find no intimation in the medical literature of any hereditary influence, but it has been noted that the gall stone victims have been, or are, very frequently OVERWEIGHT. So this particular physique, if it can be called that, is under suspicion.

Now here's our sermon on stones, and it'll be on the prevention of them:

About ten years ago, Osborne and Mendel noticed that the rats used in their experimental work which had been fed on diets lacking in fat soluble vitamin A, were frequently found to have stones in various parts of the urinary tract. These experiments have been verified in the nutrition laboratories of Japan, by Fujikami. He noticed that rats fed on a vitamin A deficient diet for a long time would first develop bladder stones, then kidney stones, and bile stones last of all. It is believed that the general debility or lowered vitality caused by the deficient diet permitted an invasion of bacteria. This caused a decomposition of the urine or gall, with a deposit of the salts which formed the stones. And it was also found that some of the stones would dissolve when the diet was corrected. Whether this would be true in man or not, we do not know, but we are sure that stones too large to pass through the ducts of the organs have to have operative removal. This is a decomposition of the urine or gall, with a deposit of the salts which formed the stones. And it was also found that some of the stones would dissolve when the diet was corrected. Whether this would be true in man or not, we do not know, but we are sure that stones too large to pass through the ducts of the organs have to have operative removal.

Pinch-Hitting For Frame

With the hint of Autumn chill in the air, thoughts of football fans lightly turn to football, which is a whole lot closer than the bathing suit manufacturers would have us believe.

In less than another month the sound of the bleating pigskin will be heard in the land and parental objections will be raised to keep the son of the household out of the sandlots and out of the hospital.

But right now the coaches who direct the destinies of the country's football teams, are doing considerable frosting about the opening of practice sessions.

One reads, if it is a reader, that Sam Willaman, new head coach at Ohio State, is already wrinkling his forehead about what he is going to use for football players when the new season rolls around.

Willaman is in a difficult position. For years the State alumni have been raising their voices against the regime of the lately mourned Dr. Wilce, and now that he has voluntarily relegated himself, they will turn to Willaman to work miracles.

There are even those among them that consider Willaman will not fit easily into the garb of a miracle-maker. They point to the fact that he is a Wilce-educated player himself and has been long under the Wilce tutelage as a member of the staff. They find hope only in the fact that Don Miller, one of the most brilliant exponents of the Rockne school, will be right hand man to Willaman this year.

Willaman has further perpetuated the Wilce system at Ohio State by naming Ernest "King" Godfrey of Wittenberg, to the State staff. Godfrey played under Wilce but a lot of pigs have yielded their winter coats to make football since then.

Godfrey may not be the most amiable person in the world, but he is a football strategist of the first water, if you know what we mean. He is a disciple of Rockne also, a student of the game and a brilliant man to map out field policy. Witness the handy way in which Godfrey's teams have stopped Ohio Wesleyan in the past—Wesleyan coached by the smartest mentors working at that trade in these parts. The results of those games indicate that Godfrey has the capacity for solving an opponent's style of play and of mapping out a defense that will stop the most ambitious offense. To Godfrey alone should go the credit for those surprising victories and with Godfrey handling the yearlings at O. S. U. Willaman has every right to expect some smart young players answering his calls after this year.

The new coach will be handicapped by lack of material this year, an unfortunate situation for a new coach. But give Willaman time, with the staff with which he has surrounded himself, and it's an even bet that Ohio State will be playing heads-up Western Conference football.

EAST END NEWS

Members of Wilberforce Lodge, No. 517, F. and A. M. are asked to meet at the hall Wednesday evening at 7:30 to arrange for the funeral service of Brother Hardy Howard, by order of worshipful master, A. J. Love.

Mrs. Maggie Banks and two daughters, Misses Mary and Jessie of Columbus, O., were Tuesday guests of Miss Dora Underwood, N. Taylor St.

Mr. Quince Locust still continues ill at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Porter, Taylor St.

Funeral services for H. F. Howard will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the St. John's Church instead of at the Masonic Temple as previously announced.

LANGS DEFEAT CENTRAL HIGH TEAM IN NATIONAL LOOP GAME

Lang's Chevrolets slipped into high gear in the eighth inning of a National League softball game with Central High School at Cox Memorial Athletic Field Tuesday evening and managed to roar down the home stretch in time to eke out a 12 to 9 victory over the students.

The rally brought victory to the Lang outfit after a nip and tuck contest in which the high school athletes furnished plenty of opposition and threatened dangerously all the time. The high school team stepped into an early lead by

GOVERNOR TO SPEAK WHEN BUILDINGS AT HOME ARE DEDICATED

Governor Myers V. Cooper will be the chief speaker at the dedication of the new buildings at the O. S. and S. O. Home Saturday afternoon, September 21.

A letter accepting the invitation was received by Col. Charles V. Burton, home superintendent, from the governor's secretary Tuesday afternoon.

Superintendent Burton said that he will proceed with other arrangements for the dedication program, having awaited the governor's acceptance for that date before making detailed plans.

Veterans organizations, the Medical and Surgical staff of the home and the Greene County Medical Society will be invited to participate in the dedication of the hospital and the men's and women's buildings. The dedication program will be in charge of the board of trustees, which will hold its September meeting at the home on that date. The trustees by a recent action, changed the regular meeting date of that body from the first Saturday to the second Saturday in each month.

WILBERFORCE

Prof. Charles Smith of the faculty of Wilberforce University, has returned from Levee, Ill., near East St. Louis, where he attended the sessions of the annual convention of the district of Illinois and Wisconsin of the Grand United Order of Odd Fellows. He has been district secretary of the organization for thirty-six years and was unanimously re-elected. Prof. and Mrs. Smith will go to Cleveland Friday morning to visit their son-in-law and daughter, the Rev. and Mrs. R. S. Brown.

The Langs tied it up in the second, however, scoring one run and doubling the count against the enemy in the third on four hits and four runs. The high school added another in the fourth and two in the fifth, while Langs picked up one in the fifth. Going into the ninth the high school rallied with two runs that fell short of victory.

The Hooven and Allison team, leaders of the American League, meet the second-place Postoffice nine in Wednesday night's game. The box score:

PUBLIC INVITED TO HEAR DYER SPEECH

The address of Prof. C. A. Dyer of Ohio State University at the joint picnic of the Greene County Farm Bureau and Pomona Grange at Shawnee Park Friday, is open to the public.

Members of both organizations are emphasizing this fact because Dyer will speak on the tax limit amendment, which will come before the voters at the regular election in November.

Farm organizations are backing the amendment, but it also has the support of taxpayers in all walks of life and officers of the two farm organizations believe Dyer's explanation of the proposal, should be interesting to the general public.

The picnic also is open to all farmers, regardless of membership in either of the farm organizations, and all are urged to attend while other people, not farmers, will be welcomed, it is said. Should any one wish to come for Prof. Dyer's address, it is expected to follow the picnic dinner to be served at noon, which will probably make the hour for the speech between 1:30 and 2 o'clock.

DIES IN COLUMBUS

John F. Anderson, father of Dr. Leo Anderson, Cedarville veterinarian and member of the village council, died at his home in Columbus, the result of a paralytic stroke suffered last Sunday.

His burial took place Wednesday in West Jefferson. Besides Dr. Anderson, two sons survive; J. N. and J. E. Anderson, both of Columbus.

POSTPONE MEETING

Owing to the death of the father of one of the members, Dr. Leo Anderson, the regular session of the Cedarville village council, which was to have been held Tuesday night, was postponed one week.

At the next meeting, further action is expected to be taken by that body regarding the proposed municipal water plant.

FOR HAY FEVER USE MUSTARD AND CAMPHOR

For 25 cents you can obtain a big bottle of a correctly prepared mustard and camphor mixture at any drug store by asking for "Skip." Rub "Skip" lightly on chest and throat, put a small amount in boiling water and inhale the fumes. This will open up your head and relieve hay fever and asthma at once. Nothing better for sprains, rheumatism, lumbago, neuritis, headache, toothache and bruises. Go now to any drug store and get

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT THE # OLD GOLD CONCEALED NAME CIGARETTE TEST

Ask us another if we haven't answered here every question ever asked about it

QUESTION: Does OLD GOLD publish the score of every public test taken?

ANSWER: Yes . . . win, lose or draw!

QUESTION: Is OLD GOLD always the same number?

ANSWER: No. In the actual tests there are no numbers on the cigarette masks. The smoker, himself, tears off the paper masks and finds out for himself which cigarette he has chosen as best.

QUESTION: Is the Concealed Name Test a "guessing contest" . . . does the smoker attempt to guess brand names?

ANSWER: Decidedly not! The smoker states only which cigarette tastes best to him, and does not try to guess the name.

QUESTION: Who conducts these tests?

ANSWER: Never the makers of OLD GOLD, or their agents. The tests are conducted by certified public accountants, or officials of the organization or institution under whose auspices the tests are given.

QUESTION: Are all competing brands equally fresh and in precisely the same condition?

ANSWER: All four brands are purchased before each test at the same time in the same store out of retail stock, just as the public buys them . . . and the clerk who sells them certifies the purchase.

QUESTION: Does the official conducting the test know which cigarette is which while the smoker is making the test?

ANSWER: No! The cigarettes are arranged in sets of four . . . one each of the four leading brands. Then they are masked . . . their names completely concealed. When the official hands out these masked cigarettes it is impossible for him, or anyone, to know one from another.

NOTE: Why not make this test yourself in your own home? We'll be happy to send you a set of the brand name masks and complete instructions . . . Write to P. Lorillard Co., 119 West 40th Street, New York City.

Pinch-Hitting For Frame

With the hint of Autumn chill in the air, thoughts of football fans lightly turn to football, which is a whole lot closer than the bathing suit manufacturers would have us believe.

In less than another month the sound of the bleating pignis will be heard in the land and parental objections will be raised to keep the son of the household off the sandlots and out of the hospital.

But right now the coaches who direct the destinies of the country's football teams, are doing considerable fretting about the opening of practice sessions.

One reads, if one is a reader, that Sam Willaman, new head coach at Ohio State, is already wrinkling his forehead about what he is going to use for football players when the new season rolls around.

Willaman is in a difficult position. For years the State alumni have been raising their voices against the regime of the lately mourned Dr. Wilce, and now that he has voluntarily relegated himself, they will turn to Willaman to work miracles.

There are even those among them that consider Willaman will not fit easily into the garb of a miracle-maker. They point to the fact that he is a Wilce-educated player himself and has been long under the Wilce tutelage as a member of the staff. They find hope only in the fact that Don Miller, one of the most brilliant exponents of the Rockne school, will be right hand man to Willaman this year.

Willaman has further perpetuated the Wilce system at Ohio State by naming Ernest "King" Godfrey of Wilberforce, to the State staff. Godfrey played under Wilce but a lot of pigs have yielded their winter coats to make footballs since then.

Godfrey may not be the most amiable person in the world, but he is a football strategist of the first water, if you know what we mean. He is a disciple of Rockne also, a student of the game and a brilliant man to map out field policy. Witness the handy way in which Godfrey's teams have stopped Ohio Wesleyan in the past—Wesleyan coached by the smartest mentors working at that time in these parts. The results of those games indicate that Godfrey has the capacity for solving an opponent's style of play and of mapping out a defense that will stop the most ambitious offense. To Godfrey alone should go the credit for those surprising victories and with Godfrey handling the yearlings at O. S. U. Willaman has every right to expect some smart young players answering his calls after this year.

The new coach will be handicapped by lack of material this year, an unfortunate situation for a new coach. But give Willaman time, with the staff with which he has surrounded himself, and it's an even bet that Ohio State will be playing head-up Western Conference football.

EAST END NEWS

Members of Wilberforce Lodge, No. 517, F. and A. M. are asked to meet at the hall Wednesday evening at 7:30 to arrange for the funeral service of Brother Hardy Howard, by order of worshipful master, A. J. Love.

Mrs. Maggie Banks and two daughters, Misses Mary and Jessie of Columbus, O., were Tuesday guests of Miss Dora Underwood, N. Taylor St.

Mr. Quince Louest still continues ill at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Porter, Taylor St.

Funeral services for H. F. Howard will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the St. Johns Church instead of at the Masonic Temple as previously announced.

LANGS DEFEAT CENTRAL HIGH TEAM IN NATIONAL LOOP GAME

Langs' Chevrolet slipped into high gear in the eighth inning of a National League softball game with Central High School at Cox Memorial Athletic Field Tuesday evening and managed to roar down the home stretch in time to take out a 12 to 9 victory over the students.

The rally brought victory to the Langs outfit after a nip and tuck contest in which the high school athletes furnished plenty of opposition and threatened dangerous play all the time. The high school team stepped into an early lead by

GOVERNOR TO SPEAK WHEN BUILDINGS AT HOME ARE DEDICATED

Governor Myers Y. Cooper will be the chief speaker at the dedication of the new buildings at the O. S. and S. O. Home Saturday afternoon September 21.

A letter accepting the invitation was received by Col. Charles V. Burton, Home superintendent, from the governor's secretary Tuesday afternoon.

Superintendent Burton said that he will proceed with other arrangements for the dedication program, having awaited the governor's acceptance for that date before making detailed plans.

Veterans organizations, the Medical and Surgical staff of the home, and the Greene County Medical Society will be invited to participate in the dedication of the hospital and the men's and women's buildings. The dedication program will be in charge of the board of trustees, which will hold its September meeting at the home on that date. The trustees by a recent action, changed the regular meeting date of that body from the first Saturday to the second Saturday in each month.

OLD GOLD

CONCEALED NAME

CIGARETTE TEST

Ask us another if we haven't answered here every question ever asked about it

QUESTION: Does OLD GOLD publish the score of every public test taken?

ANSWER: Yes . . . win, lose or draw!

QUESTION: Is OLD GOLD always the same number?

ANSWER: No. In the actual tests there are no numbers on the cigarette masks. The smoker, himself, tears off the paper masks and finds out for himself which cigarette he has chosen as best.

QUESTION: Is the Concealed Name Test a "guessing contest" . . . does the smoker attempt to guess brand names?

ANSWER: Decidedly not! The smoker states only which cigarette tastes best to him, and does not try to guess the name.

QUESTION: Who conducts these tests?

ANSWER: Never the makers of OLD GOLDs, or their agents. The tests are conducted by certified public accountants, or officials of the organization or institution under whose auspices the tests are given.

QUESTION: Are all competing brands equally fresh and in precisely the same condition?

ANSWER: All four brands are purchased before each test at the same time in the same store out of retail stock, just as the public buys them . . . and the clerk who sells them certifies the purchase.

QUESTION: Does the official conducting the test know which cigarette is making the test?

ANSWER: No! The cigarettes are arranged in sets of four . . . one each of the four leading brands. Then they are masked . . . their names completely concealed. When the official hands out these masked cigarettes it is impossible for him, or anyone, to know one from another.

NOTE: Why not make this test yourself in your own home

CHATTY CODRESS OF CAB

By BEATRICE BURTON, Author of "HER MAN," "HONEY LOU," "SALLY'S SHOULDERS," "MONEY LOVE," "LOVE BOUND," etc.

COPYRIGHT 1929, CENTRAL PRESS ASSN. INC., CLEVELAND, OHIO

READ THIS FIRST:

Charlotte Chatterton, whose nickname is Chatty, is a born gossip and busy-body. She loses her job in Mrs. Mayberry's hat store because she talks too much about Mrs. Mayberry's business. Pud, her young brother, who works in Ben Tomlinson's drug store, finds out why she was discharged, and "kicks" her about it.

Her mother, Mrs. Harriet Chatterton, earns her living by doing plain sewing. Through her old friend and customer, Mrs. Van Nuys, Chatty is given a position in the files department of Mr. Van Nuys' bond house down town. There Chatty meets David Jordan, a good looking, red-headed salesman, whom she has noticed on the street two or three times before in her life.

Billie Langenau, head of the files department, tells Chatty that only one girl in the office whom Jordan ever notices is Mr. Van Nuys' secretary, Agnes Herford, a plain, quiet girl. One day Chatty and Winnie Talcott, who helps Agnes in Mr. Van Nuys' office, see Agnes and her employer going out to have lunch together. Chatty is horrified, and thinks that Mrs. Van Nuys ought to know about it. But her mother makes her promise never to speak of it.

Then Chatty unearths another office scandal. Billie, who has come to live in the flat across the hall from the Chattertons with her older sister, Sara, tells Chatty that she is married to a man named Brewster, although she never sees him and does not use his name.

The Theater

Ernest Torrence, the sterling character actor, subject of a sketch by John B. Kennedy in the current Collier's, began his public career by winning the prize at a children's vocal contest.

He chose for his prize a pair of trousers to cover the bony knees exposed of wearing kilts handed down through a family of thirteen children. As his falsetto tenor developed, his parents sent him from the native Scotland to Stuttgart, Germany, to study voice and he returned to London in time to get in the decline of comic opera under the Gilbert and Sullivan banner. Torrence's tall figure won him the part.

With the passing of this phase of entertainment, Torrence ate dried apples and drank water to fool his stomach until the job at ered Wagon" in a tent. He had an actor coming from the East to play Bill Jackson and turned Torrence down. But when Torrence stood up his head hit the tentpole and almost knocked it down. "Great Scot, who are you?" said Cruze. "A great Scot—at least a tall one," said Ernest. And got the job. He completely discarded the "dirty dog" type when DeMille cast him for St. Peter in "King of Kings" and now he is known as one of the screen's most versatile actors. Further, his good voice has "made" him in the talkies.

TED LEWIS

HIGH HAT all perched on his musical dome, Ted Lewis personifies jazz-joy and torrid tunes. This maestro of vaudeville has embarked into talking pictures, and has the starring role in "Is Everybody Happy?" Warner Bros. produced it. It is, of course, his first Vitaphone work.

the London Gaiety with Edwardes, the Ziegfeld of London. There stage-door Johnnies besought the chorus girls so strenuously that Edwardes hired an American bouncer and one night when Torrence slipped out to a pub, the bouncer took him for a Johnnie and tossed him out on his head when he came back.

Torrence came to New York and lived on free saloon lunches until he got a place on the American stage. He had married the youngest daughter of a family of fourteen in the meantime, and imported her to America. Hanging around the Lamb's Club one day he heard that movie producers were paying $1,000 a week to actors who could earn $300 or $400 in the legitimate. The canny Scot left for Hollywood.

Out there the picture makers thought he was too tall. But Richard Barthelmess saw in him an excellent foil for his heroism in "Tolable David". He brought him to his director and Torrence became the "dirty dog" of the screen. He was disappointed to find that this was the only type of part he could portray. James Cruze was casting for "The Cov-

the London Gaiety with Edwardes, the Ziegfeld of London. There stage-door Johnnies besought the chorus girls so strenuously that Edwardes hired an American bouncer and one night when Torrence slipped out to a pub, the bouncer took him for a Johnnie and tossed him out on his head when he came back.

Torrence came to New York and lived on free saloon lunches until he got a place on the American stage. He had married the youngest daughter of a family of fourteen in the meantime, and imported her to America. Hanging around the Lamb's Club one day he heard that movie producers were paying $1,000 a week to actors who could earn $300 or $400 in the legitimate. The canny Scott left for Hollywood.

Out there the picture makers thought he was too tall. But Richard Barthelmess saw in him an excellent foil for his heroism in "Tolable David". He brought him to his director and Torrence became the "dirty dog" of the screen. He was disappointed to find that this was the only type of part he could portray. James Cruze was casting for "The Cov-

EXPECT PASTORS OF XENIA CHURCHES TO BE RETURNED HERE

Pastors of both local Methodist Episcopal Churches are expected to be returned to their charges this year by the Ohio Conference, which will be in session in the Broad St. M. E. Church, Columbus for seven days, opening September 3.

Pulpit committees of both the First and Trinity Churches have extended unanimous invitations to their pastors, the Rev. W. N. Shank and the Rev. L. A. Washburn, respectively, to return to Xenia for another year. Letters requesting their return to the local pastorates have been sent to the Rev. Jesse Swank, superintendent of the Dayton district, Methodist Episcopal Church.

The Rev. Mr. Shank has been pastor of the First church for three years. The Rev. Mr. Washburn has held the charge at Trinity for two years. Both ministers will attend the conference as delegates, and the delegates to the lay conference will be from the First Church, Harvey Elam, with C. A. Bone, alternate, and from Trinity, Mrs. William M. Wilson, delegate and George C. Stokes, alternate.

Dr. Swank, superintendent of the Dayton district will go to Columbus, August 30, to transact business in connection with the appointment of ministers and other matters preliminary to the opening of the Ohio conference. There will be representatives of about 500 churches at the meeting. The conference will vote this year on the question of receiving laymen into the conference, thus carrying out the order of general conference. Whether foreign churches will be permitted to elect their own bishops will also be voted on.
